Regulations Drafted for Rush Week

INTER-Organization Council Central Committee on rushing procedures met Friday afternoon to set dates and discuss regulations for social unit rush.

Members of the committee are Shirlee Snow, Ogden, chairman; Nancy Jo Swenson, Portland, Ore; Marilyn Gerhart, Great Falls, Mont; Ted Pettingill, Portland, Ore.; and Rodney Fye, IOC executive director.

Ex-officio member and coordinator is Miss Hollingworth, IOC president. Two more members, not yet chosen, will join the group.

DATE FOR openhouse is Oct. 11. Social units will have open house at the same time, giving rushees an opportunity to meet members and learn more about every group.

Students desiring to join a social unit may sign up in the IOC office at a date to be announced. By singing up they express their desire to join a unit but they do not designate any certain group until after openhouse and rush parties.

PRIOR TO rushing, each social unit is required to turn in a list of active members. This list must be taken to the IOC office in the basement of the Student Service Center, on or before October 5.

Units planning to enter rush proceedings must give the time, date and location of rush parties to the Central Committee before openhouse.

Rush parties will occur Oct. 12 to 22. During this time each unit will give three parties. Rushees are required to attend at least one and not more than three parties.

AT A LATER date, the rushees will go to the IOC office to list their first, second and third preferences. The Central Committee will then coordinate the preferences of the rushees with the openings and preferences of th units, and notify the rushees of their unit.

Eisenhower Sees Promising Future Under Republicans

by Robert E. Clark

LEXINGTON, Ky. — (NEA) — President Eisenhower promised Americans a future of peace, progress and lower taxes tonight if they are only not "foolish" enough to return the Democrats to power.

The chief executive delivered his second bare-knuckled attack of the day on the opposition party in an address prepared for delivery at a giant Republican rally in the University of Kentucky Coliseum.

He accused the Democrats of preceding "wicked nonsense" and "political bunk" in an earlier speech in Cleveland where he ripped into the charge that his administration has coddled big business and scorned the little man.

Eisenhower's Lexington speech, beamed to a nationwide radio-television audience, stressed what he called the danger of a return to Democratic rule which he said brought only "a drifting war . . . raging inflation . . . bigger federal spending and heavier federal taxation" the last time.

Senate Okay Expected On Cheerleader Team

Yell-leaders chosen last week by an all-student screening board, are Paul Lonkiland, San Pedro, Calif.; Dick Jensen, Portland, Ore.; Bob Ward, Long Beach, Calif.; Bob Jensen, Portland, Ore.; and Phil Nolan, Long Beach, Calif.

THE JENSEN brothers were yell leaders both last year and during their freshmen years. Ward is the only freshman on this year's crew.

First major responsibility of the five, after their approval by the student governing body will be to lead the cheering section at the football game with the University of Utah Friday.

Discussion of the Pep Committee was also on the agenda of the Senate meet.

THROUGH THE GRAMOPHONE—Brigham Young University's Marmselles, (l to r) Donna Glauser, Marilyn Lake, Marilyn W. Christensen and Pat Strong signed contract with RCA Victor recording company during the summer. The quartet was "discovered" on a tour through the South with the Delta Phi Chorus.

Singing Coeds Ink Record Contract

The Mamselles, a female singing group from the Brigham Young University, has been awarded a 5 year contract with RCA Victor Recording Co

Formerly called the Sophomores, the quartet is comprised of Pat Strong, Riverdale, Alta Canada; Donna Glazier, Mesa, Ariz; Marilyn Lake, Idaho Falls, Ida; and Marilyn Worsley Christensen, Pasadena, Calif

Originally organized at BYU in 1954, the Mamselles have participated in both the 1954 and 1955 Homecoming trio and quartet contest, placing second and first respectively. They list among their other accomplishments, the trophy for the outstanding small group on campus for 1955, during which time they gave over eighty off campus performances in connection with the Student Program Bureau.

THE PAST SUMMER, while traveling through the southern states with the Delta Phi Chorus, the Mamselles were heard by Scott Muni, a disc jockey for radio station KSMB, New Orleans.

Impressed by their talent potentiality, Disc Jockey Muni arranged an audition for the girls with a group of scouts from several recording companies.

After the audition, the Mamselles were asked to sign contracts with three of the recording companies

BEING able to choose only one contract, the Mamselles picked RCA Victor, who will release their recordings under the VIC label. Although the Mamselles have no records as yet, they expect to record two new songs, Make Me Yours, and All The Way Home I Cried, to be released soon.

Want to Stick Stake in Lawns? You've Got to Get Permission

By request of the ground maintenance department, unauthorized stakes must be removed from the campus lawns.

In order to preserve the campus beauty Carl Morrison, who is in charge of ground maintenance, has asked that students refrain from pounding stakes into the ground

Only on extremely special occasions may a person plant a stake on the campus, he said. Written permission must be obtained from Morrison, who may be contacted through the physical plant office, or from Ray Andrus, campus publicity chairman.

Andrus points out that tripods should be substituted for stakes. These may be obtained for a small rental fee at the Banyan office. Intercollegiate Knights or various other campus organizations

In line with improving the beauty of BYU, Andrus asks that quality be stressed in the various campaigns which will require signs.

All signs which are attached to stakes at the present time must be removed within the next few days. Any questions concerning campus publicity can be answered by contacting Ray Andrus, at FR 4-9048.

Home Economics Graduates Needed in Industry, Homes

by Joan Hanauer

Home Economics is a double duty occupation—it teaches you how to be a good wife and gives you something to do while waiting for a husband to come along.

Home economist Ruth L. Bonde says any young girl who likes to do something around the house, whether it be whipping up fancy food, turning out stylish clothes or redecorating, can find a spot in the home economics field.

"The home economist has become increasingly important in today's specialized economy," explains Miss Bonde, chairman of the department of home economics at Northwestern University.

She notes that graduate home economists who have had enough of academic atmosphere needn't stick around to teach. Industry is crying for young women who know their way around a washing machine or who can reel off receipts at the drop of a brand name.

"Aside from the jobs you might expect," Miss Bonde says, "There are opportunities in public relations, merchandising, applied arts and any research related to home or family."

The salaries usually begin around $4,000 a year and then it's up to the girl-graduate to prove herself.

And unlike other fields, this knowledge needn't go down the drain when the right man comes along. The home economist has the perfect background for her new career—homemaking

Middleman Picked For Game Play

LYNN READING, 190-pound sophomore center from Murray, is our Lineman of the Week following his outstanding performance against Colorado A&M last Saturday night.

Reading

Reading, a converted end, played 60 minutes of bruising football and also showed outstanding qualities of leadership in calling all defensive signals for the Cats.

IN READING'S case practice paid off. He virtually lived with a football last summer learning the fundamentals of a position entirely new to him. Mainly he concentrated on the unheralded yet important function in the T-formation of hiking the ball to the quarterback.

"WE HAVE the material for another great track team this coming season," declared head track coach Clarence Robinson at a meeting of individuals Friday night in the Smith Fieldhouse.

The Cougar thinclad mentor seemed full of optimism following his team's successful tour through the Pacific summer. With a bevy of speedy frosh hopefuls and a strong contingent of established stars, chances of extending a 14-meet winning streak and defending the conference championship seem good.

COACH Robison succeeded in corralling a number of outstanding newcomers. Heading the list are such bright prospects as Eldon Hall, Provo High star, who ran a 14.2 second high hurdle record last year in addition to time for that event in the nation last year. Marc Nielson, also of Provo, ranked fifth among high school athletes last year with a pole vault of 13'6".

Also available will be an outstanding group of frosh distance men, including state champs from Arizona, Idaho, Wyoming and a Canadian star.

SPRINTERS Boyd Enyart, Jim Demet and Roland Anderson already possess times capable of winning many college meets. Anderson is the brother of Harry Anderson, Cougar short-distance ace.

Holdovers from last year's Skyline kings are such fine performers as Anderson and Dick Heywood in the sprints, Arlyn Fullmson in the quarter mile, Paul Anderson and Albert Day in the mile and Bob Suk Shum in the two mile. In the field events Ralph Bonham will return to his high jump crown as will Al Werner in the javelin. Ben Brooks, Raynor Pierce, Mel Wilkes and Weldon Dickson will be back for another year of broad jumping.

HEADED BY a prospective return to Europe in 1959 is a schedule of Skyline Conference opponents, Arizona State and University of Arizona. Impossible relay meets on the West Coast Coach Robison also promised his men that if any individual is capable of placing, he will be entered in national meets.

That's Rich

THE FOOTBALL "Sleeping Giant" at Brigham Young University is beginning to arise. Saturday night the Cougars put their most inspiring performance in many a season against Colorado A & M.

The Rams were favored by from one to two touchdowns from the beginning it was apparent that pre-game estimates would be thrown out the window. The two squads fought almost equal terms throughout the game.

IT WAS THE BYU defense that shone during the game as a strong forward wall aiding the Cat cause.

The Cougars outplayed A & M most of the way, but could not get in scoring drive, allowing several chancesto cross the goal line. The Cat offense was erratic at times, and occasionally seemed to run out of gas completely on the ground. The really effective offensive weapon the Brighams had was the forward pass. It also backfired on a few occasions when Rams fenders pulled in BYU passes in what could have been crucial situations.

THE 6,749 FANS present saw the Cougars make a good showing of it all the way. Not content to play for a tie, the BYU eleven went all out in the last seconds of the game trying to pull out a winning touchdown across. Had the game been 30 seconds longer it is likely they would have made it.

It looks like the Cougars are on their way out of the cellar as far as football goes. The squad maintained its poise and balance throughout the game. Head Coach Hal Kopp has definitely finally has things well in hand. Rough edges still remain, but are being worked off, but the promise to try and improve each Saturday is made by Coach Kopp is fully being kept.

* * * *

WATCH FOR AN IMPROVED offensive game against Arizona this week as the Cougars come up with another good one Saturday night. Coach Kopp will be holding secret practices today night.

This year's Utah-BYU game promises to be one of the best played. The Cougars will field an improved, scrappy team, and the Utes, favored to take the Skyline conference title this year will be hoping to keep their win streak intact.

DON'T FORGET the pre-game rally on Thursday. Remember the word on the BYU campus this week is "BEAT UTAH!"

Lobo-Farmer Upset Appears As Skyline Game of Week

NEW MEXICO pulled the upset of the year in the Skyline Conference as the Lobos clobbered highly rated Utah State 27-19 at Albuquerque Saturday night.

The Aggies outclassed New Mexico both on the ground and in the air, but the Farmers gave the game to the Mexico on fumbles. Six fumbles by Utah State and five recoveries by New Mexico in the first half helped the Lobos gain a 20-6 halftime lead.

Jack Hill, Utah State all-American candidate, was tied up by the New Mexico line, except for the finale, when he passed for the Aggies' only touchdown.

IN THE "grudge" battle of the year Wyoming trounced Colorado A&M 27-0 before 16,000 fans.

The Cowboys, still smarting over last season's disastrous loss to Denver, showed no mercy for the hapless Buffaloes, scoring in every period. From then on, Denver was never in the game. Tailback Jim Crabtree led the Wyoming offensive attack.

As was expected Utah had little trouble in overpowering the Montana eleven.
